Some Sad News

A sad day for the BuildABizOnline community. Martin Chantler passed away.

Martin was credited with being the primary programmer who supplied most of the innovation found in not only the BABO tools, but also all the amazing resources he made available, mostly for free, on ReduceTheHype.com. He will be missed.

I checked. ReduceTheHype.com is still online, but I suspect it to be taken down as they get Martin's affairs in order.

There is SO much on this site, like capture pages, promo codes, PLR. Take some time to check it out.

BuildABizOnline still remains a favorite of mine, mainly because I USE the tools Martin has created.

Pro membership for $10 per month gives access to all the tools, and limited access to the autoresponder.

For $14 per month, as Pro Executive, you get unlimited access, and other advantages like free blog hosting, and up to 70% commissions..

Honestly, I use the BABO tools with all my autoresponders and projects because they are so superior to just the basic tools with those other systems, tools that other systems want to CHARGE EXTRA for.

If you do not have an autoresponder, you NEED one if you ever intend to make anything with network marketing. [Insert soapbox here]. It is a cost of doing business PERIOD.

Build YOUR LIST.
The MONEY is in the FOLLOW-UP!
People BUY from marketers they KNOW, LIKE, and TRUST.

BABO even has some done-for-you autoresponder campaigns for you to get started with. I have other campaigns I can share. I CAN HELP.

Ian Stewart is still offering a 14 day Pro trial of BABO for \$1 to check out the Pro tools (no autoresponder access).

There is no better way to honor Martin than to USE the Tools and Systems he created for US.

It's all about the matrix right now.

I sent a note to my sponsor... I'm in, but somewhat unsure until the "reveal". I'm willing to throw some traffic at it. Won't cost me anything right now, and I'll be getting a head start filling the 3x10 matrix.

What's the Product?

There are tons of these "$5 Miracle" or "One-time $10 Funnel" programs that continually flood my email.

The question I always ask is, what is the product? What are they really selling?.

I always look at this in multiple ways.

Is it just an empty "send me money" scheme or is there value to it as a list builder that might show you the propensity of some people to spend a small amount of money, which means it might be worth building a list with that program, or is it just an empty shell nothing program that builds SOMONE ELSE'S list.

I look at these that I deem worthy as "starter programs" that could give my subscribers a "jump start" to begin bulding their list.

I also look at this is what are the peripheral advantages. Is there a residual income component that I could leverage, for instance, many of these products are based on LeadsLeap. Well, I have tons of funnels that use LeadsLeap for not only the pages, but also as a list manager.

In my view, if I'm able to get people to at least take another look at LeadsLeap and consider LeadsLeap Pro, I can get residual income from that. LeadsLeap has been a good investment for me with the Pro level upgrade that pays 50% commission. It pays for itself every month because I have people who have signed up and have seen the value in the Pro upgrade.

I also consider that anyone who signs up on ANY of my lists becomes a recipient of this newsletter, where they are exposed to other programs in which I participate, and yes, some sign up. The biggest advantage of my newsletter audience is the CONNECTIONS I establish with my subscribers.

I am a CONSULTANT FIRST, and a SALESMAN LAST. I spent 20 years as a professional business consultant for Fortune 500, Government, Military, and Small Business clients. I'm now retired (for the 3rd and final time according to my wife).

Of course, I have to keep the lights burning and pay for my traffic jones, which I do through my own affiliate marketing efforts, but I've NEVER charged any network marketer for my coaching and advice.
